Gospel Reflection

The readings for the 27th Sunday offer important lessons about marriage, family, and living as children of God. These reflections explore the themes of unity, respect, and trust found in the scriptures. They invite us to understand and live out these teachings in our daily lives.

In the reading from Genesis, God declares the things he created “good”. Until he gets to man being by himself. That is “not good”. So God creates woman as a partner for man, showing that marriage is meant to be a union of equals. God says, “It is not good for the man to be alone.” He creates woman from man’s rib, symbolizing that they are of the same flesh and meant to support each other.

This union is blessed by God and highlights the importance of companionship. Marriage is a sacred bond that calls for mutual respect and love. It is a partnership where both husband and wife work together to build a family and support each other in all aspects of life.

In the Gospel, Jesus teaches that what God has joined together, no one should separate. This reinforces the idea that marriage is a lifelong commitment. It reminds us to cherish and nurture our relationships, keeping them strong and faithful.

The readings also emphasize the importance of family. In Genesis, the creation of woman leads to the formation of the first family. This shows that family is the basic unit of society, where love and support are found.

Jesus’ love for children in the Gospel highlights the value of family. He welcomes children and blesses them, showing that they are precious in God’s eyes. This teaches us to care for and protect the children in our lives, providing them with love and guidance.

Families are called to reflect God’s love. By supporting and caring for each other, family members help each other grow in faith and love. This strong foundation in the family helps to build a stronger community and church.

Jesus teaches that we must be like children to enter the Kingdom of God. Children trust and depend on their parents completely. They do not worry about their worth or seek approval from others. In the same way, we must trust in God and depend on Him. We are God’s children, and He loves us unconditionally. We do not need to seek approval from others or worry about our worth because God values us. By living as children of God, we can find peace and joy. We can let go of our fears and trust that God will take care of us. This childlike trust helps us to live more fully and freely in God’s love.

The readings remind us of the value of marriage, family, and childlike trust in God. They call us to live with unity, respect, and dependence on God. By following these teachings, we can build stronger relationships and grow in our faith.

Reflection Questions

- What does it mean to me to be a child of God?
- Do I seek approval from others, or do I trust in God’s love for me?
- Do I show respect and love to my spouse and family members?

FAMILY CONNECTION

Jesus' teaching about divorce and remarriage can be a challenging one for many people. The Church continues to uphold the strong and positive teaching of Jesus that God intends for a man and woman to make a lifelong commitment to one another in the Sacrament of Marriage. Many of us, however, know people whose marriage has not been a lifelong commitment. The example of Jesus teaches us that we are called to act with compassion and love in our relationships with all, and especially when people are hurting because of difficulties in their relationships. Most importantly, we remember that when marriages thrive, it is a sign of God's grace at work.

As you gather as a family, talk about what it means to make a promise or a commitment to someone. Offer examples of promises that are fairly easy to keep. Read today's Gospel, Mark 10:2-16. Talk about examples of promises and commitments that might be more difficult to honor, like the marriage commitment that Jesus is asked about in this Gospel. Talk about how we need God to help us honor our commitment to love and care for each other. Jesus teaches that we should be like children before God, trusting God's promise to care for us and asking for his help to keep our commitments to love and care for others. Conclude by praying together that God will give his grace to us that we may honor our commitments to one another. Pray together Saint Ignatius of Loyola's prayer, the Suscipe.
